THE Hongkong Choral Society gave a performance of Gaul's cantata "Ruth" in St. John's Cathedral yesterday afternoon, . before a large audience. The undertaking was certainly not an ambitious one, but, whether the society ignored the maxim that whatever is worth doing is worth doing well or not, the performance could hardly be described as a success. The romantic pastoral story has appeared in a variety of musical dresses, and among the number that given to it by Gaul has enjoyed a considerable degree of popularity among choirs. The music is tuneful and easily sung, and there is sufficient variety in it to keep an audience from feeling it tiresome. The number of voices which the Choral Scciety was able to muster, however, was too 14th April, and may be expected here small to do justice to the choruses, even if the parts had been more equally balanced than they were and the quality of tone better. expected here on or about the 21st Mr May as conductor did his best to import spirit to the performance and got valuable assistance from the organist, Mr Sangstor, April, and may be expected here on or but the result was not always very encouraging. The opening chorus A left Port Darwin for this port via grievous famine was a very commonplace performance, In it, as indeed in all the others, the feebleness of The O. S. S. Co.'s steamer Antenor from the basa was conspicuous. The chorus at the end of the first part, Weep no more, was decidedly better, and the improvement was still more marked in the opening chorus of the second part, except in the passages for tenor and bass, which were very poorly The D. D. R. s.s. Aglaia left Singapore | rendered, The chorale, Look down, O Lord,' was decidedly their best effert. The two concluding choruses went with more spirit than the others, but there were too few voices to make them effective. Of the soloists, Miss Winifred Hazeland, who took the part of Naomi, was the most successful. Her voice is well suited to the music of the part and she sang with tasts and feeling. As Ruth Mrs Humphreys sang very carefully and correctly, Miss been a similar experience at Headquarter Lammert, as Orpoli, was beard to advantage in the trio, the only opportunity which the part offered. Mr Crow's singing was somewhat lifeless, but it is only fair to him to say that there is not much in the music that can be sung effectively.

THE annual meeting of the seatholders of Union Church was held yesterday aftermoon in the Chamber of Commerce Room,

City Hall,-Rev. G. H. Bondfield in the chair. There was not a large attendance, and the business done was of a formal nature. The report of the Committee of Management for the year ending 31st March ultimo, and the Treasurer's statement, were passed: From these it appears that the Church will now have an income of about $3,000, from interest, scat-rents, 3. Third reading of the Bill entitled An etc., and for the first time for a long series of years will be able to pay its way without any extra call upon the scatholders. The report also states that the re-erection of the Church building on the new site progresses very satisfactorily, and will no doubt be completed by the end of September, the date named in the contract. Japan. The majority of the excursionists, It having been decided to build a manso on the new site, a sum of $500 was voted by resolution for that purpose, in addition to Green, in order to give his passengers a full the 87,000 already sanctioned. The Committee of Management was re-elected .-Mr Goosmann again to act as Treasurer and Mr H. McCallum as Scoretary, with ton days in all, the tourists saw a large the addition of the name of Mr J. Anderson. Votes of thanks were passed to the of Mr Plummer, Mesers Cooke's agent, Honorary Organist, the Choir Leader, and the Trustecafor help given, and to the Committee of the City Hall for their kindness in granting the Theatre for the arrvices while the church thilding is being re-crected. The Pastor (Rov. G. H. Bondheld) banked the Committee and the scatholders generally for the kind assistance he had received from all during the past year, and expressed a hope that when they got late their building on the new site, their improved financial condition would help them onward towards a higher spiritual tone as a Church than they had hitherto shown, so that their i fluence for good upon this Colony me be more clearly manifested. The meeting was closed by Dr. Chalmers .- The closing paragraph of the Committee's report is as follows :- It gi es the Committee very great pleasure to testify to the ournest and untiring manner in which the Patter has performed his manifold divies, and they liave every reason to believe that every scatholder, so well as the large camber of special export ports, at the commencement Military and Naval officers and mon who have regainely attended the Church during the past year, fully appreciate his valuable

THE INDIAN ELECTORATE. -- Mr Theodore Beck, of Aligarh, relates the following incident in illustration of the ignorance of the Indian peasantry on political matters: -I remember putting some young peacents -through-a-political catechism, commencing with the question ' Who is Mr Gladstone ? A bowildered store was the only answer. This was followed by 'Who is the Viceroy; the Lieutenant-Governor, the Collector, the Tabaildar?' But still, there was no reply. Then I asked 'Who are the policemen!' Oh, there are three policemon,' was the immediate reply, 'Mahomed Bakhsh, Govind Singh, and Yusuf Khan.'

It had been rightly stated that many residents had been for the last twenty years or more paying for water which they did not get. He was not in strict agreement with Messrs Francis and Ede on all points referred to by them, but he did think that the water rate should be used for the supply of water only. scheme to all he pays for. Mr Humphreys said he was objecting more particularly to the manufacturer being put in a worse position than the private householder. Maunfacturers were just as necessary in this colony as private individuals, and perhaps more so, without them the private individuals would soon decrease in number. He thought if the supply became insufficient to suppl, the wants of manufacturers it ought to be increased. One way in which it could be increased at present was by repairing the Pokfulam conduit. The supply from that source was perhaps less than a quarter of what it might be if the conduit, which he had no hesitation in saying was leaking from end to end, were repaired.

Mr Francis explained that his remarks to decreasing the supply of manufacturers before that of private indivinals only had reference to that supply which they would have over and above the regulation quantity.
